BRIDE OF A WEEK DIES OF GLANDERS

Contracted Dread Disease From Pet Horse She Drove to Buy Her Trousseau.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

"BRIDGEPORT, CONN., Dec. 4.—Mrs. Richard F. Mueller, bride of a week died of glanders Friday night. She caught the dread disease, niways fatal to humans, from her pet horse, which she drove to this city while preparing het trousseau. Her symptomys were obscure, but an expert who was called in positively declares that she suffered from glanders or farcy, which, as most people know, is communicable to man from horses and mules, which are primarily affected with it.

Mrs. Mueller was Emma Reichell, who lives icar Bridgeport. Whenever she drove to town she herself harnessed, unharnessed and tended her horse, which lately showed remarkable signs of glanders. About the middle of last month she drove here to buy garments she needed for her wedding outfit.

On November 21st she fell ill. Dr. A. A. Holmes was summoned and found his patient suffering from acute rheumatism apparently. Her joints were red and swollen, she suffered considerable pain and her temperature ran up to the dangerous point, 104 degrees.

Dr. Holmes treated all her symptoms and her temperature and a gerous point, 104 degrees.

Dr. Holmes treated her for rheumatism, and in four days all her symptoms but the fever, subsided. She, her affinized, every one, believed she would soon recover and she was married to Mr. Mueller in her father's house on Themksetying Day. Thanksgiving Day.

Acquire Toll Roads.

Acquire Toll Roads.

The bill introduced by Senator Cromwell in the Senate yesterilar to authorize the board of supervisors of Norfolk county to acquire the toll roads and toll bridges of that county and to issue bonds therefor is somewhat similar to a bill offered by him at a former session, but which railed of passage at that time, Senator Gromwell states that the people of the county are much harassed by reason of the maintenance of toll bridges and toll roads in the county, and it is with a view to relieving the county of this handleap to its progress that the bill is offered.

Belle Bryan Nursery.

The board of directors of the Belle Bryan Day Nursery at their regular meeting Monday found the outlook encourasing, and appreciation was expressed for the responses of friends to the appeal of the board. The board is now clear of debt, but there is nothing definite in the future to cling to or depend upon. This is a constant source of worry. What the ladles want is the assurance of a steady income, and they wish the friends of the worthy institution to contribute of the worthy institution to contribute inguiarly.
